FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Western Associated Press.

LONDON, November 11.—Upon a division in the debate on the Closure rule five members of the Liberal party recorded their votes against the government, but none of the Conservatives were found voting in favor of the gag rule. Of the Home Rulers, 33 voted in favor of the Closure rule, and the remainder abstained from voting.

The official announcement is made that De Crais has been appointed Ambassador for France at Rome.

DRESDEN, November 11.—Herr Hachner, Director of the Dresden picture gallery, is dead.

BRUXELLES, November 11.—Gustave Nottohamb, musical historian, is dead.

MADRID, November 11.—Figueras, ex-President of the Federal Republic, is dead.

ST. PETERSBURG, November 11.—While taking cool at this harbor the steamer Austral, which trades in Orient, went down with its entire cargo; no lives lost.

LYONS, November 11.—Placards have been posted on the walls of principal buildings and the bulletin boards calling for another Socialist demonstration here.
The authorities are unable to discover who posted the placards, so efficiently has the work been done; but full notice having been given, it is probable the demonstration will take place. The police are on the alert and prevent, if possible, any outbreak or tendency to become unruly. The military continue in the barracks, ready to be called on any moment. It is not likely that the anarchists will find as smooth sailing as before if they attempt to disturb the peace of the city and nation.

One of the workmen employed by the French government in its tobacco factory here was fined for violating the rules of the institution. This so enraged his fellow laborers that they seized the manager and attempted to avenge their comrade by throwing the manager into the river. The police and the government authorities interfered and, with great difficulty, succeeded in rescuing him. Several heads were broken during the melee, but no body was killed.

ANOTHER ASSESSMENT ON THE POOR CLERKS.

The Sublimity of Republican Assurance.

NEW YORK, November 11.—Much to the surprise of the clerks in the custom-house and other Federal offices, who had fondly imagined that they had heard the last of the election and its attendant taxation, the following circular was received this morning:

REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE, FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL,
November 10, 1892.

Dear Sir: By order of the Executive Committee, I am requested to say that your name does not appear on our books as having made any voluntary contribution towards the legitimate expenses of the past campaign. If desirous, you can make your contribution either by calling or sending it to the assistant treasurer, Room K, Fifth Avenue Hotel. I will be here until Wednesday evening, Nov. 16.

Very truly yours,
E. M. JOHNSON, Secretary.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, November 11.—The stock market opened at an advance of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent, with Oregon Navigation leading.
In the early dealings prices were strong and recorded a further advance of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent, in which the New Jersey Central, Rochester and Pittsburgh, Canada Southern, Michigan Central and Loch-sville and Nashville made conspicuous advances. About 11 o'clock there was a reaction of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent, while the Richmond and Danville dropped to 5/16 per cent from 3/8, and rallied to 1/2 per cent.

Money, 6 per cent; prime mercantile, 6 1/2; bar silver, 11 1/2; exchange steady 80% for long and 84% for sight; government 1/2 higher for 3% and extended 5/8, otherwise unchanged; State debt, Tennessee mixed declined 1/2 per cent, and railroads generally strong and higher.

Stocks.—Since 11 o'clock the market has been moderately active and somewhat irregular, but in the main weak. A general decline of 1/4 to 1/2 per cent took place, in which the Leekawanna and Nashville and Chattanooga were prominent on the downward turn, while the Richmond and Danville fell off to 1/16 from 3/8, but recovered to 1/2.

Government bonds, 5% extended, 101 1/4; 4 1/2% 112 1/4; 4 1/4% 104 1/4; Pacific 106 of '95, 129.

The Minnesota Election.

ST. PAUL, November 11.—The final footings of the election returns and estimates from all counties give the following majorities for Congressmen:

First District—White, Republican, 5680.
Second District—Wakefield, Republican, 8603.

Third District—Strait, Republican, 9107.
Fourth District—Washburn, Republican, 5501.

Fifth District—Nelson received a plurality over Kindred of 7102.

The Legislature now stands: Senate—Republicans, 70; Democrats, 10. House—Republicans, 72; Democrats, 28. Independents, 1; farmers, 2. The list is liable to be slightly changed by later dispatches from outlying districts.

It is reported that Freeman, Ames and Barnum, Democratic candidates in the First, Fourth and Fifth districts, will contest on the grounds of alleged frauds.

Almost a Disaster.

NEW YORK, November 11.—There was almost another disaster in the Harlem tunnel yesterday. As the New Haven train which leaves Mt. Vernon at 8:17 a.m. was passing through the main tunnel, it stopped about 82nd street. The rear brake-man, ray lack and stopped a train a few blocks in the rear. When some person said "all right," and the train started again, the conductor of the first train sent another brakeman back and he stopped the train in the rear within one hundred feet of the one ahead of it. The passengers were much excited.

A Forgotten Figure-Head About to Arrive.

WASHINGTON, November 11.—It is stated that ex-Vice-President Wheeler will shortly marry Mrs. Woodruff, Chicago, widow of the late Supervising Surgeon-General of the Marine Hospital Service.

What next?
Who will care for Hawkey now?
Will it be Mr. Speaker Patterson?
Who objects to the paving epidemic?
For whom did the comet augur defeat?

Is "Chipsa" a chip, air, of the old block?

Where were the sky blues on election day?

How long is this fine weather to continue?

Why doth the busy mosquito linger so lovingly?

Why should we not have more private theatricals?

Are you yet skeptical with regard to the cotton crop?

Isn't it a great comfort to the disappointed to get boozey?

Can't the chain gang be reorganized for the benefit of corner loafers?

What will the tailors and coal dealers do if the thermometer continues to crawl upward?

With a circus, an election and races within the compass of a month, who can complain of dullness?

Doesn't it seem as if jubilee and elections days were trying to see which could be the most quiet?

Doesn't old Mr. Winter betray a remnant of the old-fashioned, but de-cayed, plunger, Miss Sumner?

Where is the man who made the pun about the probability that the Democratic Governor would be Bate?

If the Fuzellites had received more votes, would those now on their accustomed drunks have remained sober?

If the Legislature happens to have a majority of old bachelors won't baby buggies be banished from sidewalks?

If the farmers are not satisfied with the price paid them for cotton seed why don't they build a mill of their own?

What could have been more to the taste of the circus loving party than the loose dollars of the day but one before?

If little children could vote, would organ grinders be obliged to take out a license as one was asked to do yesterday?

Wouldn't an Antiquarian Society—if that may mean a society of human antiquities—receive a large membership in Memphis?

Is it because sky blues are so much higher up in the world than the most common folks, that they saw so many stars on election day?

Would it be a good plan to move the stationhouse further from the center of the city—to the Exchange building for instance—as is spoken of?

Isn't it rather touching to hear a sky blue arguing that it is pronounced Fuzell instead of Fuzelle?

Wouldn't a still more appropriate pronunciation be Fizzle?

If Mrs. Langtry were to visit Memphis what reason would she have for her favor, her talent as an actress, her reputed beauty or the fact that she had found favor in the eyes of a real live prince—had gossip, gossiped and flirted with the heir to the English throne?

Do you know that the boarding-house maids of the city are discussing a plan to consolidate and form a company for the manufacture of hash on a large scale, to be dealt out every morning to the members in proportion to the amount of scraps sent in by them the night before?

Banana skins cover the pavements being thrown there by the banana lovers who are thus indifferent to the probable injury to others by such carelessness. A gentleman this morning slipped on a banana skin on Main street and had a hard fall. As he rose and brushed the dust from his suit he remarked that he did not mind the fall so much as the loss of a fine Havana cigar, just purchased from Sol Coleman, and which he had accidentally dropped on the pavement when he fell.

Cold Wave Close.

WASHINGTON, November 11.—For Tennessee, the Ohio valley and lower lake region, cloudy weather, with local rains, winds mostly southerly, stationary or higher temperature and lower pressure.
For the upper lake region and upper Mississippi valley, rain tapping into snow, variable winds, shifting to much colder northerly, followed by rising barometer.
For the Missouri valley, snow, followed by colder, clearing weather, northwesterly winds and higher pressure.

AGENTS WANTED.

JUBILANT DEMOCRATS.

An Ovation to Tennessee's Governor Elect, Wm. B. Bate.

The grandest demonstration that Nashville has seen for years was given at the opera-house in honor of General Bate and the Democratic victory. The Governor elect made one of his happiest efforts. Speeches were also made by Hon. John H. Savage, Col.
Josiah Patterson, Gen. W. C. Whitthorne, Hon. G. G. Dibble, Judge Jo. C. Guild, Major J. D. Richardson, Col. A. S. Colyer, Hon. S. P. Wilson, Hon. Benton McMillan, Col. R. M.
Edwards, and others. The remarks of Messrs. Savage and Patterson were reported as follows in the American:

HON. JOHN H. SAVAGE

was the next speaker after General Bate. He said he was not before the audience to make a speech; under the circumstances it was unnecessary.
Men and generations passed away, but the cause lived forever. The cause of the recent battle in Tennessee would live for ages. It was the grandest battle we had ever known since the days of the revolution, one hundred years ago. The war in Tennessee had been one of the people against all it was wrong that had desolated the State since the reign of the Republican party. Democracy was stronger than it had been for twenty-five years.
But if we were powerful we should be merciful. The Democratic party was grandly powerful, and therefore should be duly merciful.
The speaker drew a very humorous picture of Beasley and Fussell in tears over their defeated ambition and aspirations, concluding by admonishing the victors to extend to these two erring ones the hand of charity and forgiveness. Hawkins and his followers were in the fullness of their hearts the speaker would wish that he might be allowed to live a little while longer.
Hawkins, however, had not been a friend to the people, and 15,000 Republicans of the State, realizing this fact, had voted their country too well to follow him. This course of the Republicans should receive the hearty endorsement and appreciation of all those who had the interest of the State at heart.
In referring to the State debt, Col.
Savage said that in his opinion it was now settled forever, viz. on the 50-3 basis. The grandest thing he had seen for years was the Republican vote of the North against the corruption of its own party, and that of the South, which had voted against Hawkins and his followers. There was a new era in store for the nation—an era of prosperity that was inviting the return of the Democratic party to power. As long as that party advanced toward higher conditions of progress so long would it shine resplendent to the world.
Like the fiery, whose brilliancy was visible only in its flight, its brightness would remain only while on the wings of passion and integrity.

The Reason Why.

Drake's Traveler's Magazine.

"Where is the old steward?" inquired a traveler as he stepped aboard an outgoing steamer, just previous to its departure.

"Oh, he was discharged some time ago," replied the cabin boy.

"Why, he seemed to be a first-class fellow," rejoined the first speaker,

"why was he kicked out?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, he got too big for his breeches, and we dismissed him," emphatically ejaculated the captain.

The conversation occurred within hearing of a bright-eyed, intelligent little girl, the daughter of one of the tourists on that stamer. Subsequently another passenger arrived, and after bestowing a casual glance around, said:

"I don't see the old steward; what has become of him?"

"I think he was discharged," volunteered a bystander.

"Do you know what for?"

"No, sir."

"I do," piped a small voice from the cabin door.

Looking around the inquirer saw the smiling face of a little girl peeping out at him.

"Well, my dear," said he, "why was the steward discharged?"

"Oh, I don't like to tell," she bashfully replied.

"But I want to know," he persisted.

"Come, tell me the story, girl; what did they discharge him for?"

"Cause," she slowly replied, "cause his pants were too short!"
